

S-300 Acquisition Radar Detection Envelope

Technical analysis of the S-300 surface-to-air missile system indicates that its 64N6E acquisition radar has a detection range of 300 km against fighter-sized targets at altitude.

This detection range figure applies to the search radar of the S-300 air defence system and reflects the panoramic surveillance coverage of the phased-array antenna.